	27,050	Total Buchanan majority over Fremont, with about thirty counties to hear from. The returns from these counties will probably increase the majority to over 40,000 votes.

MAINE—Presidential.

The returns from Maine indicate a largely increased Republican majority over that in September. Nine of the fifteen Counties have been partially heard from. They are as follows:

Counties.	Fremont.	Buch.	Fill.
Cumberland, (6 towns)	4161	3606	936
Hancock, (3 towns)	1073	670	33

Republican gain in 16 towns since September .. 823
Republican loss in 9 towns since September 21
Total gain in 16 towns 867

NEW-HAMPSHIRE—Presidential.

The returns from this State indicate a Republican majority increased over that at the Spring election. One hundred and thirty-two Counties foot up as follows:

Fremont 38,345
Buchanan 21,013
Fillmore 378

Fremont's plurality, 4,488.

The towns remaining to be heard from gave at the Gubernatorial election in March last, in a poll of about 20,000 votes, a Democratic plurality of 461.

The State has unquestionably given FREMONT at least 5,000 majority.

In Concord, the residence of President PIERCE, the vote is as follows:

Fremont 1,235
Buchanan 874
Fillmore 5

Nashua gives 333 and Manchester 1,031 Republican majorities. These are both manufacturing cities.

VERMONT—Presidential.

In forty towns heard from the result is as follows:

Sense of Our New Councilmen.

In the Thirty-sixth Council District, HUGH O'REILLY, Democrat, is elected. He is about 28 years of age and is a brave fireman, and was born in this country.

THOMAS KELLY, Democrat, is elected in the Thirty-seventh Council District. He is an American, and a member of Empire Company No. 40, and a favorite with his associates. He is an engraver by occupation.

In the Thirty-eighth Council District, MICHAEL SMITH, Democrat, is reelected. He is a middle-aged man—an Irishman. He pursues the business of boot-making, and is considered a very good man.

In the Fifth District the Democrats have reelected JAMES BADLIN for Councilman. He is 36 years of age, and is an Assistant Engineer in the Five Departments. He is very popular in his Ward. He keeps a hat store.

In the Sixth District JAMES REILLY has been reelected to the Board of Councilmen. He is about 40 years of age, and is proprietor of a liquor store.

In the Eleventh District the Democrats have reelected MATTHEW MORRAT. He is an Irishman, an old politician, formerly resided in the Third Ward, and for many years has been a contractor for the City Government.

GEO. MCKINLEY (Dem.) has been reelected in the Twelfth Council District. He is a native of New-York, 39 years of age, and keeps a porter house. He has long been a Sixth Ward politician, and is a great favorite with his friends. He was badly injured in a fracas with his opponents, on Tuesday, at the polls, and now lies in a dangerous condition at his residence. He was sustained by the Dunlop faction in this District.

In the Thirteenth Council District, M. GILMARTIN Democrat, was elected after a desperate fight between the opposing factions. Mr. G. is a respectable man, a fruit dealer down town, and brother of the Ex-Assistant Alderman of that name. His opponent was the notorious PAT MATHEWS, an employe of the Custom-House and keeper of a porter-house in the Bowery. During the voting, early on Tuesday, a fight occurred between the Bowery boys, headed by MATHEWS, and the Molly Maguire boys led on by JIM KERRIGAN—between whom and MATHEWS a feud has long existed, when the Mathews faction were driven from the polls, in Mott-street, and a general riot was the result, during which 30 or 40 shots were fired and several injured—one man seriously.

In the Twenty-fifth Council District the Americans have elected HORATIO REED. He was formerly in the Common Council, a butcher by trade, and is at present keeper of a restaurant. He is a man of ordinary capacity, and about 40 years of age.

In the Twenty-sixth Council District JOHN VAN TINE, Dem., is reelected. He is a native of this City, and is in the dry-goods business.

In the Twenty-fourth Council District, the Democrats have elected JESSE S. SEEKELS. He was born in Germany, and is about 36 years of age. His German fellow-citizens speak highly in his favor.

In the Forty-fifth District, (Sixteenth Ward) JAMES MITCHELL, Republican, is elected, beating GEORGE MASSETT, the gentleman who wears the lovisitina watch chain, and who ran a famous race in the Park.

In the Twentieth Ward JAMES WALLACE, Jr., son of the present member, is elected in the Fifty-first District. In the Fifty-second DANIEL RYAN, and in the Fifty-third THOMAS A. DOWD, are elected. The whole three are Democrats, Byrne being Anti-Wood and the others Wood men, and are members of the present Board. Mr. DOWD is the proprietor of the "Astor House," not opposite the Park fountain, but a drinking shop at the corner of Eighth-avenue and Thirty-seventh-street.

WHAT THE POLICE CAPTAINS REPORT.

The Police Captains of the various Wards, in their report yesterday morning to the Chief of Police, in most cases, state that the Election passed off quietly in their Wards. The Captains of the First, Twenty-first and Eleventh are the exceptions.

In the First Ward, fighting was going on to some extent from sunrise to the close of the polls, and the police were so short-handed that they could make but two arrests.

In the Twenty-first Ward a riot took place, in endeavoring to quell which, the Captain and an officer were badly beaten.

In the Eleventh Ward considerable fighting took place. One man was stabbed, and one fellow was arrested for firing off a pistol.

☞ Generally when election is over the ride is about suddenly falls off. In the Seventh Ward, however, the American nominee for reelection as School Commissioner, who was only elected before election, is enjoying the advantages of a regular set procession since election is over. One of our enterprising cotemporaries spared yesterday about a page of wood cut and much gossip to prove that he is a "vain gallant," and all that. After reading the whole story we arrive at the conclusion that Mr. WARD has been a most faithful school officer, having returned to the Board many of the improvements in the line of enlarged school-houses, good accommodations and capital teachers that it has obtained. Of course the owner of the cherry tree that he was in addition foolish enough to ask a girl, jokingly, if she would kiss him. That was terribly out of the

There was a severe gale on Lake Michigan on Sunday, and as a large number of vessels left Chicago that day, and as but few of them have been reported, it is feared that many have met with disasters.

The bark American Republic, from Chicago for Buffalo, bound up from Milwaukee, with a cargo of wheat, was driven into the harbor last night, very leaky, and filled with water [illegible] loaded with 19,000 bushels of wheat. The cargo is [illegible].

The propeller St. Joseph, which left Chicago on Saturday, is ashore at Fairport and in a critical situation. Her crew have not yet been taken off. The sea is breaking over her.

Several other schooners are reported ashore, and many badly damaged.

CHICAGO, Wednesday, Nov. 5.

The gale of Wednesday on the Lake last night was the severest of the season. The schooner [illegible], with a cargo of wheat from Chicago, went to pieces off Buffalo, bound up from Milwaukee, with wheat last night between the piers. The vessel is a total wreck. No lives were lost.

The schooner J. G. Bentley, with a cargo of wheat from Chicago for this port, lost her rudder in the gale, and went ashore nine miles above Dunkirk. The crew and small boat were lost, and none were on board when our informant left.

Advices from Kansas of the 30th ult. announce that a convention to nominate a Free State ticket would meet at Big Springs on that day. Delegates from all the districts in the Territory were expected to attend the convention was presided over by JAMES H. LANE. On the first ballot Gov. REEDER received 35 votes, and Gov. PARROTT 31 votes. REEDER was then unanimously nominated. The convention appointed a Committee, who reported that the election be held, [illegible] a protest against WHITFIELD's election, and recommending REEDER to be the choice of the people of Kansas.

A canvassing Committee of five was appointed, and resolutions passed indorsing the political course of Mr. REEDER and expressing a determination to continue zealously and actively to sustain Freedom in Kansas.

Another resolution censuring Gov. GEARY was indefinitely postponed.

The prisoners are on trial at Lecompton.

GEARY is still in the southern part of the Territory, making arrests.

FIRES.

LARGE FIRE IN MARIETTA.

MARIETTA, Ohio, Nov. 5.

The Marietta Planing Mill, owned by [illegible] CRAIG, was totally destroyed by fire on Wednesday morning, Nov. 5. The fire ignited in the engine room, [illegible] at 11½ o'clock, and although every effort was instantly made to extinguish it, the flames rapidly ascended the elevators to the roof, and in a few minutes the entire building was in one mass of flames. About 200 barrels of flour and 15,000 bushels of wheat were destroyed. Loss from $40,000 to $50,000; insured for $5,000 only; $2,000 in the Ætna, Hartford, and $3,000 in Washington County, Ohio. The mill was one of the most extensive mills in the Ohio Valley, and its loss will cause great inconvenience to [illegible].

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE IN ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, Monday, Nov. 3.

Early on Saturday morning a fire occurred in the machinery in the northern part of the city, which was burned. Two of the employees of the establishment slept in the building, three of whom jumped out of the attic window, but, before the others could escape, the front walls gave way, and precipitated them into the cellar, where they perished beneath the ruins. The parties were Germans.

A Democratic Gain.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Nov. 5.

Gov. WRIGHT, of

[illegible] Slavery agents are in the greatest number, and the moment a boat arrives they are on board to view the company and spot the "Abolitionists," as all [illegible] are called. No distinction is made by them of the South, between Northerners, Pro-Slavery and Anti-Slavery. All from the Free States are denounced as "abolitionists." The scenes [illegible] by these Southern "spies" in Ohio. When the Northern emigrant goes to the hotel and registers his name, the [illegible] steps on immediately and reads the name and the place of residence, and then, turning to the new comer enters into an affable conversation with him and broaches politics to draw him out if possible. If the emigrant is on his guard, and keeps mum upon all important points, the questioner is more boldly asks him what his sentiments are, and he is forced to take one side or another, or take the consequences.

If he declares himself to be Anti-Slavery, he is insulted at once, and is made to feel that he is no better off than he would have been had he kept mum and refused altogether to make known his political sentiments. He is taunted and abused, and if he makes a show of resistance he is done for at once. But if upon being questioned, he declares himself to be a Pro-Slavery man, even then he is not free from taunts and jeers. One says to him, "One Southerner can whip five Northerners." Another chimes in, "The North is settled by a pack of Scoundrels," and if the assailed ventures to support a defender of the Southern province and Northern cowardly he is called upon to back his [illegible] with force of arms.

At the time of our arrival Col. Sumner, at the head of the United States troops, had executed his orders, which were to drive the Missourians who were encamped in Kansas back into their own State. These Missourians had fallen back into their own State, where they were encamped upon the borders, ready to return at a moment's notice. The Free-State men, by this time, had been generally disarmed by Col. Sumner throughout the Territory. That is, they were deprived of all the arms that could be found, but most of them managed to secrete their pistols, while they willingly gave up their rifles. Now the excitement had arisen to such a pitch that the boats were examined on their way up from St. Louis, and the Free-State men deprived of their arms on the way. The Morning Star, from St. Louis, was stopped at Lexington, and some sixty or seventy Free-State men were forced to deliver up their arms. At this seizure, one man offered the Missourians to go on there and fight for their arms man to man. This proposition was declined. Then said the emigrant: "You shall not have my weapons," and as his captors were about to seize him he threw his rifle and two revolvers into the Missouri and told his assailants "to dive for them." The Lexingtonians then placed an armed guard over the disarmed men to attend them to the spot of their destination, and there to hand them over to the surveillance of the Southern brigade of Kansas. This case is one among many. At the time of my writing, all the boats coming up the river were searched and the passengers treated in this way. In cases where eight or a dozen men were found handed together from any Free State, they would not be permitted to land, but were ordered back to St. Louis. In searching the boats the Pro-Slavery men had the advantage, as the boats passed through their territory.

SCENES AND INCIDENTS AT LEAVENWORTH.

Upon the second day after my arrival a boat came to the wharf. The Southern brigade, about 80 strong, marched down and took possession of the craft and found 30 Free-State men on board. The baggage and merchandise of this company were seized, each one of the party having been disarmed down the river, and all the property thus taken was carried into a general warehouse, where these Southerners store away their plunder. The men, under an armed guard, were carried on up the river as far as Weston, and on the return of the boat were carried back to St. Louis and then dismissed, with orders never again to appear in Kansas on pain of death.

While this same boat was passing Leavenworth on her return from Weston, at the wharf at Leavenworth, a tall specimen of a Vermonter was standing near the gang-plank, looking at the vessel, with his hands in his pockets and his eyes wide open. His appearance too plainly indicated his nativity, and while he was thus looking at the crowd, lost in wonder and his own reflections, some one in the throng cries out, pointing to our hero: "There is an Abolitionist," "There is an Abolitionist." All eyes were at once directed to the poor victim, and the shout went up, "Hussle him on board!" "Hussle him on board!" and accordingly, within the space of five minutes the poor fellow was on his way to St. Louis under an armed guard. It was afterwards learned that he was an emigrant from one of the Eastern States, and all his goods and valuables for an emigrant's life were left behind him never to be reached by him again. At St. Louis, he was dismissed with the usual admonition never to appear in Kansas again. Such acts as this are of daily occurrence.

In speaking of property seized, I may here remark, that a large warehouse at Fort Leavenworth is entirely filled with all sorts of farming utensils and household articles, that have been taken away from Free-State emigrants from time to time. There are now in this same warehouse 1,600 stand of arms, that have also been delivered up by Free-State emigrants, in obedience to both the United States authorities and the Southern Chivalry. As we have remarked in another place, only the Free-State men are condemned to lose their arms (which condemnation generally extends only to their rifle, although in many cases including pistols, knives and all sorts of weapons.) All who arrive in the Territory from a Slave State are enlisted by Gov. SHANNON into what is called the Kansas Militia, who take under their possession all the Territory.

At the time of my reaching the Territory, the assassination of BARBER, the murder of BROWN and the destruction of Lawrence had been perpetrated and already been given to the public. It is unnecessary to refer to these incidents again in detail. A few days after reaching Leavenworth a ball was given at a private residence—a Pro-Slavery ball. The two parties do not intermingle at all in domestic or social life. My sleeping room in the Hotel commanded a view of the ball-room. There were present about 200, and an equal division of ladies and gentlemen. The gentlemen went through the evolutions of the quadrille, polka and waltz, with a brace of revolvers by their sides and the handle of the bowie knife revealed from their bosoms. The women of the place share in the political feelings and excitement. One young lady of seventeen, from South Carolina, told me that "she would like to wade ancle deep in Abolition blood." I refrain from making comments upon this amiable and benevolent wish of this young belle, but publish this remark as an index of the public feeling. The general society of the ladies of Kansas, will compare favorably, in intelligence and social standing, with any towns of the same dimensions in the United States.

The next day after the ball, a young man from Ohio was riding on horseback from Lawrence to Leavenworth, with $500 in his pocket. He was met by fifteen of the Southern chivalry, and his horse taken from him, and his money also. The young man said that although his property had been taken from him, yet he must say that it was most genteelly done. He said the spokesman of the party, in his politeness, would have done credit to Dick Turpin, of English memory. In asking for his money and his horse, the chief of the gang said "he hoped he would not take it amiss, but really the times made it incumbent upon them to lighten him of his load of whatever ready cash he might have about him." This is the style of the road in Kansas.

Under the decision of Judge LECOMPTE, the Territorial Judge, this system of appropriating goods on the highway is justified, he holding in substance "that money in the pockets of Free-State men, being liable to be used to the disadvantage of the Pro-Slavery party, is a nuisance, and the latter party are justified in seizing money so found for self-defence and self-protection." This is the same Judge who issued the order to D. R. ATCHISON to destroy the Free-State Hotel at Lawrence, upon the ground that it was a nuisance because it gave shelter to Free-State men.

About two weeks after I had been at Leavenworth, I was roused from my sleep at night by the most terrific thunder storm I ever witnessed. The skies seemed to be pouring down the entire wrath of Heaven upon the devoted populace. Nevertheless, it soon ceased, the constant quivering of the lightning revealing everything around. I saw from my window that the fleet had arrived at the wharf. In defiance of the drenching floods of rain, roll of thunder and flash of lightnings, the Southern brigade were at their [illegible] on the shore of the Delaware tribe of Indians, [illegible] like a statue gazing upon the steamer approaching to the wharf, this being the first time he had looked upon a craft of this kind.

CORRUPTION OF THINGS AT LEAVENWORTH.

I found the people here full of excitement. A short time previously Lawrence had been sacked. People of all classes were armed with whatever weapons they could command. The revolver swung at their side and the bowie knife kept it company. These weapons were a portion of the wearing apparel in and out of doors. The great staple of trade here is whisky. It flows like water, and fortunes are being realized upon it. Whisky that speculators pay 40 cents per gallon for in Missouri, Delaware sells here for 10 cents per glass, and the consumption is great. Gambling-houses [illegible] are numerous. The fare and roulette tables stand by the sidewalk and the attendant upon their wheel cry to every passer-by "Face, Sir?" "Roulette?" "Take a game of Faro, Sir," and the game is as openly played as apples are peddled from the stores of New-York City. All parties make up the customers of these tables, which are generally crowded by New-Yorkers, and every day [illegible] the night experiences the truth of the [illegible] "Fortune favors the brave," for the brave [illegible] the moment they arrive in [illegible] and with the eyes and wrist of the [illegible] they have the [illegible] of the [illegible] of the [illegible] of

The Democratic Vote in the State of New-York.

The Know-Nothing Party must have been most effectually and by its own members on Tuesday, for on that day a preconcerted movement, they voted, by the Bedouin ticket. They had the very right to determine the other two parties to their choice, and the Bedouins carried it. They had a majority of their own party, and a majority of every regular member of their Order. They knew the exact number of their men, every one of whom had taken a solemn oath to vote the ticket that should be nominated by the majority of the members of the Order, and to vote for no other. They have succeeded, and the Bedouins will be found in the Legislature of 1854, not hitherto witnessed in the Democracy of New-York, by a police capacity which the country will be found to have received a decided rebuke from the people of the Union. If an extraordinary concurrence of fortunate circumstances should ever bring both Kentucky and Tennessee, and even Virginia, under the control of Democratic leaders, they will be found to have received a decided rebuke from the people

HALIFAX, N. S., Wednesday, Nov. 5.

The royal mail steamship Canada, Capt. LANG, from Liverpool at 8½ o'clock on Saturday, Oct. 25, arrived at this port this evening, and will be due at Boston at an early hour on Friday morning. She brings London evening papers of Oct. 24.

The United States mail steamship Baltic, from New-York Oct. 21, arrived at Liverpool at 7 P. M. on Wednesday the 22d ult.

The new steamer Kangaroo, with 200 passengers for Australia, sailed from Liverpool at 3 o'clock P. M. on the 22d ult.

The steamer Nubian, from Havre for New-York, put into Southampton early on the morning of the 22d ult. with 200 passengers and a full general cargo.

The Canadian steamship Indian arrived at Liverpool on the morning of the 22d ult.

Dispatches from Paris turned out to New-York a brief extract, from the Paris Moniteur, on the subject of Neapolitan affairs.

The Moniteur says that when the Congress of Paris shall have met, the great powers saw elements fraught with danger to the peace in Belgium, Greece, and Naples. The United States, Naples alone refused to accept the decisions arrived at, and that in consequence the Congress will cease to hold diplomatic intercourse with her.

The article of the Moniteur is the only authentic thing the public have yet had of what is going on.

The British fleet is somewhere in the Mediterranean, and the French ships continue at Toulon ready for sea.

Some of the dispatches are contradictory—while one statement says the ministers will not leave Naples for some months, another asserts that Baron BRENIER, the French Envoy, has announced to the Neapolitan Government that if he did not receive a satisfactory communication within two hours he should receive his last instructions—said instructions being doubtless to demand his passports. The statement that the Emperor of Russia has urged the King of Naples to avoid a rupture by making some concessions, seems to be confirmed by numerous communications in the Continental papers.

The Vienna Gazette and the Independance Belge are generally reliable journals; express themselves very decidedly on the subject.

The views of the Emperor, it seems, was that King FERDINAND should change some of his Ministers, and call Count SARTIGNO at the head of the Government. While warning him against the ill-will of England, the Emperor is further represented as having recommended to the King to trust to the moderation of the Emperor of the French, and to accept him as a Mediator.

The Austrian Gazette has received a communication from Naples, to the effect that King FERDINAND, to show his conciliatory disposition, will not recall his Representatives in Paris and London in consequence of the recall of the French and English Ambassadors at Naples. They will only leave these Capitals in case their passports are sent to them. The only authority for this statement is the Austrian organ, which also professes to be able to say what the decisions of the British Government really are—which are considered to be as follows: First, a change of Ministry—Second, abolition of the present Police system—and third, a general amnesty.

On the same authority it may be stated that the French Cabinet would be satisfied if a general amnesty were granted.

The hopes of a speedy reassembling of the Paris Conference begin to be shaken. The resistance is said to come from the English Government, whose views seem to prevail.

The captain and crew of the lost brig Collingwood, from Quebec, were rescued by the Volga, JEFFERSON, of Boston, from St. John for Hull.

Great Britain.

The Parliament has been further prorogued till Dec. 16.

The citizens of Dublin gave a banquet on Wednesday, the 22d ult., to nearly 4,000 troops who served in the Crimea. The Mayor of Dublin presided, supported by Lord Lieut. CARLISLE, Lord GOUGH, PALMER, and many other gentlemen. The city of Kilkenny will give a similar banquet on the 31st ult.

Mr. JOHN ARROWSMITH, cotton broker of Liverpool, avows himself the author of the story in the London Times, of "Duels and Murders in a Georgia Railway Car," and reiterates the truth of his statement. The affair is incomprehensible and excites much curiosity.

The schooner Dean Richmond was offered at auction at Liverpool, and the reserved price was £3,000. Only £2,500 being bid, she was withdrawn.

AURELIA SAFFI, a Roman Triumvir, has been engaged by the Italian Emancipation Committee to lecture throughout Great Britain to stir up enthusiasm for Italy.

Mrs. MARY P. STONE, sister of CYRUS W. FIELD, Esq., of New-York, died at Paris on Wednesday, the 22d ultimo.

France.

French correspondence gives prominence to accounts of the Imperial gayeties at Compiègne, where the Emperor is enjoying hunting by day and many balls by night; in the style and costume of Louis XIV.

Numerous arrests have recently taken place in the Department of the Deux Zones, where a spirit hostile to the Government of a dangerous description has been discovered. The society was organized by tens and hundreds, all pledged to obey orders for the destruction of the rich. Many persons were apprehended, but the peasants, armed with pitchforks, attacked the escort and rescued the prisoners. New arrests have also been made in the Faubourg St. Antoine within a few days.

The report of the Bank of France is rather more favorable, although the Bank has adopted yet more stringent measures, and will not make any advance at present on Railway shares or rents. Commercial bills having sixty days to run are always objected to, as they usually the term is reduced to forty-five days.

Spain.

Advices from Madrid speak of a new ministerial crisis. The Ministers have resigned, VALDEGAMAS commands and controls the Absolutists. The Marquis of MIRAFLORES, the head of the Absolutist party, is spoken of as the coming man, but he, in the meantime, declines responsibility. It is said that O'DONNELL is recommended for the Household Guard, as a check upon ESPARTERO. Count REINHARDSTEIN, the Russian Minister, had had a cordial reception from the Queen.

Switzerland.

The Ultramontane party in the Canton of Lucerne is making an effort to overthrow the Federal Government by refusing to send Deputies to the Congress of Paris.

Turkey.

The Porte has sent orders to REDSCHID PASHA, Ambassador at London, to leave immediately, but Rawsham declines.

The Grand Duke of Tuscany, during absence of the Emperor of Austria, Naples, appears disposed to grant some concessions to his people, by reviving, with some modifications, the Constitution of 1848.

The Paris Constitutionel asserts, as if from a sure source, that in consequence of the negotiations between Austria and Rome, the Austrians are about to withdraw, and will retain only two points, Ancona and Bologna.

A treaty has been concluded between Russia and Persia, placing the shape of the latter in Russian hands, on the footing of the most favored nation.

Switzerland.

The Ultramontane party in the Canton of Lucerne is making an effort to overthrow the Federal Government by refusing to send Deputies to the Congress of Paris.

Turkey.

The Porte has sent orders to REDSCHID PASHA, Ambassador at London, to leave immediately, but Rawsham declines.

An attempt has been made to induce MASSAPINA PASHA to take office, but he refused.

A dispatch from Constantinople says that Gen. GEORGE has died of cholera.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Liverpool Cotton Market.

The Brokers' Circular reports that the advices from America, by the Canada, caused an advance of 3-16d. @ ¼d. which was further increased 1-16d. on the reception of the Baltic's news, making the full advance one farthing @ ¼d. The market was very active throughout the week,—the total sales amounting to the large quantity of 130,000 bales, including 20,000 American. The sales to speculators reached 12,000 bales, and to exporters 12,000 bales. The market closed steady, at the advance of ¼d.@⅜d. The improvement was more particularly observable on the lower qualities. The sales on Friday were 12,000 bales, including 5000 on speculation. The following are the authorized quotations:

Fair Orleans	7⅞	Middling Orleans	6 15-16
Fair Mobiles	7⅞	Middling Mobiles	6⅞
Fair Uplands	7⅞	Middling Uplands	6¾
Ordinary to good ordinary	5¾@6⅝	Inferior	5@5⅜

The Stock in port was estimated at 463,000 bales, of which 358,000 was American.

Manchester Markets.

Trade in Manchester was somewhat depressed, owing to an advance in prices, while buyers are calling for a reduction.

Liverpool Breadstuffs Markets.

BREADSTUFFS generally were dull. The Brokers Circular says FLOUR was the turn in favor of buyers. WHEAT slightly cheaper for the lower descriptions,—say about 2d.@2d. ₰ bush. on the week. CORN steady at previous rates. Various Circulars call old WHEAT 4d. ₰ bush. lower. FLOUR, 6d.@1s. lower than at the departure of the Asia. Some authorities likewise quote CORN quiet, at a decline of 1d. ₰ bushel.

The following are the quotations of Messrs. RICHARDSON, SPENCE & Co.; Western Canal Flour, 30s.@ 33s.; Baltimore and Philadelphia, 32s. 6d.@35s. 6d.; Ohio, 35s. 6d.@37s. 6d.; Canadian, 35s.@36s.; Red Wheat, 9s.6d.@9s. 7d.; White, 9s. 9d.@10s. 2d.; Mixed Corn, 33s. 6d.; Yellow, 33s. 6d.@34s.; White, 35s.@ 35s. 3d. The market was dull at the close.

Liverpool Provision Market.

Messrs. RICHARDSON, SPENCE & Co., JAMES MCHENRY, and BUCHANAN & Co., report these slightly cheaper, and holders willing sellers; the market closed very dull. PORK drooping. BACON slow of sale, but prices unaltered. LARD very dull, and quotations nominal, at 75s. TALLOW steady, at 56c.

Liverpool Produce Markets.

The Brokers' Circular reports Rosin (common) in average request, without quotable change. Fine selling at 10s. 6d.@12s. 6d. Spirits of Turpentine at 34s. Ashes unchanged—business moderate. Pots quoted 29s.@30s.; Pearls 44s.@47s. Quercitron Bark steady at 13s. for Philadelphia, and 12s. 9d.@13s. for Baltimore. Linseed Oil unchanged and in fair request. Rape Oil steady. Cod and Seal Oils without change. Palm Oil active at £43@£43 10s. Olive Oil unchanged. Dyewoods in fair demand. Saltpetre—Sales of 900 bags at extreme prices. Sugars firm and active at an advance of 6d.@1s. Tea in good demand at 8¾d.@9¾d. for Common Congou. Coffee active and firm. Rice—Business small, but prices firm.

London Money Market.

A better feeling prevailed in the London Money market, although there had been no change in rates. It was not supposed that the Bank of England would make any further advance in its rates of discount. "Consols for Money closed at 92⅛@92⅜; and for Account, 92¼@92⅝. Exchange on Paris was at 24@25.50; Dollars were quoted at 5s. 1d.; Bar Silver, 5s. 2d.; Eagles, 76s. 4½d. The Bullion in the Bank of England had increased £1,641,000.

London Markets.

Messrs. BARING, BROTHERS & Co. report a firm business doing in IRON at unchanged rates. Bars and rails quoted at £7 10s.@£7 15s.; Scotch Pig, 60s. 6d. COPPER active, at 112s. LEAD dull, at 23s. 6d. TIN selling at 136s. for Banca; Fine Rosin steady, at 33s. LARD without change; sales at 76s. LINSEED OIL 40s. 6d. BREADSTUFFS, generally quiet and without essential change. FLOUR, quoted 32s.@37s. White WHEAT, 70s.@76s. Red WHEAT, 68s.@72s.

American Securities.

Messrs. BELL & Co. report considerable transactions in State Stocks, and a steady market. Railroad Securities inactive, with more sellers than buyers. New-York Sixes, 104¾@105¾; United States Sixes, Bonds of 1868, 104¾@105¾; Massachusetts Fives, 98 @100; Pennsylvania Fives, 73@75; Pennsylvania Fives, Bonds, 78@80; Maryland Fives, 91@93; Virginia Sixes, 82@84; Kentucky Sixes, 90; Alabama Fives, 81@83; Erie Railroad, 1st mortgage, 98@100; do. Havre Markets.

The sales of COTTON from the 13th to the 21st of October, inclusive, amounted to 9,000 bales. The market closing buoyant. New-Orleans très ordinaires, quoted at 108f.; Mobile, 107f.; Uplands, 104. The stock on hand was estimated at 44,500 bales, including 42,500 American. The quantity at sea was computed at 15,000. BREADSTUFFS—Generally dull and slightly lower. PROVISIONS—Dull, and quotations nominal. ASHES—A better feeling in the market. SUGAR—Active and firm. COFFEE—Easier, but quotations unchanged. OILS—Very dull. RICE—Quiet. DYEWOODS—Unchanged. WHALEBONE—Quiet, but firm sales at 465f.

NEW-YORK CITY.

Mr. Huntingdon's Effects under the Hammer.

The costly collection of Dresden China vases, Parian marble groups and statuettes, ormolu ornaments, bad pictures with ponderous gilt frames, immense pier glasses, elegantly carved rosewood furniture, beautiful service of plate, general gimcrackery, and a considerable quantity of household goods, with which Mr. HUNTINGDON (that celebrated financier who forgot prudence in success, and consequently found himself suddenly stowed away one fine morning in a cell in the Tombs) had crammed his late residence, No. 86 East Twenty-second-street, were sold at auction yesterday by HENRY H. LEDES. The notice of the sale attracted a large crowd of people. Everybody seemed anxious to obtain a souvenir of the distinguished though fallen operator. The natural consequence of this was a very brisk competition, especially for the merely ornamental articles. The crowd was always greater in the parlors and drawing-rooms than in the bed-rooms or kitchen. The moment the auctioneer announced his intention to proceed to sell the goods in one of the former a terrific rush to it occurred, and it was crammed almost to suffocation before he could reach the door. The throng crushed, and pushed, and elbowed, and shouldered, and squeezed one another in utter defiance of all the rules of polite intercourse and conventional gallantry. In one corner you might observe an old lady of remarkable rotundity—(that being a very frequent characteristic of the female contingent of the assemblage)—flattened against the wall by a lank young gentleman with very red eyes, her bonnet crushed to one side and her face red as a lobster, in the vain struggle to push him aside. Elsewhere, a slim female of dubious age and very long nose, on which her gold spectacles were set ludicrously awry, would request, in a tone of studied calmness, the stout gentleman tramping on her toes, to move off, and, in a loud voice, express her astonishment that people who had no business there would insist on forcing themselves in places where they were not wanted. Here a weak-minded gentleman, prompted in all his bids by his wife and daughter, who held him a close prisoner, would writhe about in torment when his solid crowd, in its irregular heavings, caused his nearest neighbors to trample on his corns. There, a care-worn-looking young man, just about to commence housekeeping, would be thrust against a young lady who had been separated in the universal crush from her "pa" or "ma," and would apologize with a sickly smile for his inevitable trespass. Here, a thin-legged swell in pursuit of the marble Venuses in paris nudibus, for which the brilliant HUNTINGDON was supposed to have an excessive penchant, would cast contemptuous glances through his quizzing glass on the fuzzy old bachelor beside him, who made a bid for everything, and would have had no hesitation, if HUNTINGDON had been hung, in paying $1,000 for the rope. In another corner a stern dowager, in black, would fidget about at every above she got, and anxiously clap her hand on her pocket to find if her porte-monnaie had been abstracted.

The sale began at 10½ o'clock and lasted until six. The articles of least use brought comparatively the highest prices. A towel rack, for instance, sold at $1 12½, a China foot tub for $1, a pair of excellent window-shades for 87½ cents each, and an admirable velvet carpet for $1 25½ cents a yard, whereas an ormolu vase and shade was knocked down at $25, and a parlor suite of furniture, consisting of a sofa, a tête-à-tête, two arm and four parlor chairs, at $300. A carved open-work center table with marble top, went at $60; a rosewood etagere at $250, a rosewood centre stand at $70, a bronzed gilt at $120, a bronze gas chandelier at $40, an indifferent painting of "The Hour by the Lake," at $70, a small rosewood book-case by WILTON, richly carved, at $140, and a pair of China spittoons at $5 50.

"Here," said the auctioneer, "are a couple of Dresden China vases which cost at least $250 for the pair. John, show them up!"

The colored assistant, bringing a pair of very gilded vases.

"Now," resumed the knight of the hammer, "how much shall I have for the two handsomest vases in the City?

"Two dollars," screamed a shrill voice in a corner of the room.

"You don't say so?" said the auctioneer in a tone of banter; "that's awful!" [Laughter.]

"Fifty dollars for the pair," somebody cried out.

"Forty dollars apiece," said somebody else.

"Forty dollars," sung out the auctioneer, "forty dollars—forty dollars—forty!"

"Fifty for the pair," said a fat old woman, who seemed rather befogged.

"No, I have been offered forty apiece," replied the auctioneer. "Forty apiece, then," he continued—"forty—forty—forty—forty"——

"Forty-two," said an old gentleman.

"Forty-two," said the auctioneer—"forty-two—forty-two—forty-two—forty-two—fat-two—fat-two—fatto—fatto—fatto"—

"Forty-five" came from an old lady who was standing on tiptoe.

"Forty-five," said the auctioneer—"forty-five—forty-five—forty-five—five—five—five—five—five—five—forty-five—who will give me seven-and-a-half—forty-five—forty-five—five—five—forty-five only 7½?"

"Seven-and-half," said somebody from the middle of the crowd.

"Fifty," said a lean gentleman with a long beard, at the dictation of an elderly female, who might be either his wife or his mother.

"Fifty," shouted the auctioneer with renewed energy—"fifty—fifty—fifty—fifty—fifty—fifty"——

"Fifty-one," from the old lady.

"Fifty-one—fifty-one—fifty-one—one—one—one—one one—only fifty-one; spices—at fifty-one, going—fifty-one—fifty-one—one—one"——"two," said the lean gentleman, as he got another nudge from the lady.

"Two—two—two—two"—"Two," cried the shrill voice of a tall spinster at the door.

"Two bids at fifty-two," said the auctioneer—"two—two—two—two—two—only fifty-two offered—two—two—"

"Three," said a gentlemen with a Kossuth hat, who spoke through his nose. "Three" continued the auctioneer—"three—three—three—three—you could not buy them at $100 each at least—fifty-three—fifty-three—fifty-three—three—three—three—four—fifty-four is bid—fifty-four—four—four—four"

"Five!" screamed the old lady, evidently excited.

"Five," said the auctioneer—"five—five—five—five—"

"Fifty-six," from the middle of the crowd.

"Fifty-six—six—six—six—six—six—six—only fifty-six—seven, gentlemen—who will give fifty-seven?"

"Seven," nodded the lean gentleman.

"Seven"—resumed the auctioneer—"seven—seven—seven—eight, gentlemen, will you say eight—seven—seven—seven"

"Eight," said somebody.

"Eight—eight—eight—eight—nine—fifty-nine—nine—nine—nine—at fifty-nine—fifty-nine only bid—fifty-nine—fifty-nine—fifty-nine—sixty, gentlemen, bid sixty—fifty-nine—nine—nine—nine—no one to bid sixty—"

"Sixty," said the old gentleman.

"Sixty," said the auctioneer, as he started off anew—"Sixty—sixty—sixty—at sixty—only sixty—sixty—sixty—I don't suppose there is another pair like them in this country to be got—very rare and costly—sixty—sixty—"

"Sixty-one."

"Sixty-one," shouted LEDES—"Sixty-one—sixty-one—sixty-one—one—one—one—at sixty-one going—at sixty-one—"

"Sixty-two," from the old lady.

"Sixty-two—sixty-two—two—two—two—two—two-and-a-half—and-a-half—and-a-half—an'-a-half—an'-a-half—an'-half—an'-half—'n'-half—half—half—half—half—three—sixty-three—three—three—three—three—three—an'-a-half—half—half—half—sixty-three—an'-half—four, will you give it—at four—four—four—four—"

"Five," screamed the old woman in a paroxysm of terror, lest she should lose the articles.

"Five—five—five—at sixty-five going—five—five—"

"Six," cried the lean gentleman in pursuance of a pinch that made him writhe; "Six—six—six—six—sixty-six, gentlemen—six—seven—sixty-seven bid—seven—seven—seven—seven—seven—seven—eight—eight is bid—sixty-eight—eight—eight—eight—nine—nine—nine—going at nine—nine—nine—seventy—seventy—seventy—seventy—at seventy going—seventy—seventy—sev—"

"Seventy-one," cried somebody at the window.

"Seventy-one—seventy-one—at seventy-one going—going at seventy-one—BARKER, seventy-one dollars each!"

Mr. and Mrs. BARKER paid the deposit, and the auctioneer went on to another set, and the sale was continued with unabated spirit.

Board of Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors met yesterday afternoon, Mr. Supervisor ELY in the Chair. Several petitions for corrections of taxes were referred.

The report of the Committee on annual taxes was read, remitting and reducing the taxes upon real and personal estate of several petitioners. The report of the Committee on Criminal Expenses was read in reference to the matter of Justice BOGART. They recommend the payment of $1,263 75 for service during 198 days pending the sickness of Justice BOGART. Superintendent TOOKER denied the truth of the statements, and did not believe Mr. PEARSON entitled to more than half the sum, even if Mr. BOGART was really sick. Everybody knew what ailed him, and Mr. BOGART ought to pay him. Supervisor VOORHIS supported the reduction to $1503; he thought that enough for supplying the absence of Mr. BOGART when he chose to go fishing. On vote eight were in favor of the reduction to six in support of the reception of the report.

Adjourned to Monday afternoon, 10th inst., at 4 o'clock.

SCROFULA EASILY CURED.—It is very apparent that the science of medicine, hitherto so backward in its progress, has made very great and sudden advances within the past year or two. Many diseases that from time immemorial have been considered incurable, are now reduced to the class of easily-handled ones, and since the famous discovery, by Dr. HENRY ANDERS, of the means of dissolving Iodine in pure water, and thus placing within reach of the afflicted the most valuable and the most effective agent in the whole materia medica. Scrofula or King's Evil, as well as Consumption, has become one of the most readily-cured maladies in the world. ANDERS' Liquid Iodine, or Pure Iodine Water, eradicates the scrofulous taint in the shortest possible space of time. Its effect in Consumption is perfectly marvelous. So, too, with palsy, inflammatory rheumatism, fever and ague, heart complaint, &c. ANDERS' Liquid Iodine or Pure Iodine Water is sold at $1 a bottle by ANDERS & FOSDICK, No. 3 Second-avenue and No. 863 Broadway; C. H. RING, No. 192 Broadway; No. 46 Fulton-street, Brooklyn; No. 59 Montgomery-street, Jersey City; No. 151 Grand-street, Williamsburg.

HOW TO RISE IN THE WORLD.—Young men should be temperate, active, courteous, prompt, careful, persevering, honorable, honest, respectful, generous, and should thoroughly "Know Themselves."

Phrenology teaches self-knowledge, and with it all the Christian graces, together with the modus operandi of rising in the world.

Hon. HORACE MANN says: "I look upon Phrenology as the guide to Philosophy and the handmaid of Christianity. Whoever disseminates true Phrenology is a public benefactor."

Rev. HENRY WARD BEECHER says: "If a man wishes to know practically what he is made up of; if a man wishes a knowledge of human nature for definite practical purposes, there is no system which will aid him in acquiring that knowledge like the system of Phrenology.

Practical instructions, with written descriptions of character, given daily by Prof. FOWLER, No. 308 Broadway.
